†Original notice of the question was received in Hindi.

the Governments of Bihar and Uttar Pradesh, based on their preliminary assessment, 450 human lives in Bihar and 216 human lives in Uttar Pradesh have been lost due to heavy rains/floods during 2007.

The execution of the rescue and relief measures in the event of natural disaster is primarily the responsibility of the concerned State Government. The distribution of relief on the ground is made by the concerned State. The Central Government supplements the efforts of the State Governments by providing financial and logistic support.

The State Governments have taken necessary rescue and relief operations in the affected areas which include evacuation of people to safer places, operation of relief camps, cattle camps and providing essential commodities viz. readymade food, wheat, rice, chura, Gur, salt, kerosene oil, shelter material like polythene sheets, etc. The State Governments also took necessary steps to prevent outbreak of any epidemic in the flood affected areas.

For execution of relief operations, a Calamity Relief Fund (CRF) has been constituted for each State Government, which is contributed by the Government of India and the concerned State Government in the ratio of 3:1. The State Level Committee, under the chairmanship of Chief Secretary of the concerned State, is fully empowered to operate the CRF in accordance with the extant items and norms approved by the Government of India. These norms inter-alia provide for assistance to the affected persons in the form of ex-gratia payment to families of deceased persons, gratuitous relief of families in dire need of immediate sustenance after a calamity (who have no food reserve, or whose food reserves have been wiped out in a calamity and who have no other immediate means of support), agricultural inputs subsidy for damage caused to crops, assistance for repair of houses, assistance for generation of relief employment, assistance for loss of animals, assistance for feed and fodder.
